NO CONSOLIDATION

We have been informed that there will be no vote taken in the Ripley school district on whether or not they will consolidate with the Mirror school district. After a canvas by the school trustees it was deemed unnecessary to take a plebiscite, owing to the marked opposition to the scheme expressed by a large majority of the rate-payers.

MATRIMONIAL

A very quiet wedding took place in Alix, Alberta, on Monday afternoon, March 16, 1914, when Mr. Melvin Olsen and Miss Flora, daughter of Mrs. D. G. MacKirdy, of Mirror, were joined in holy wedlock. The wedding service was performed by Rev. Leslie in the Presbyterian church, the bride and groom being attended by Miss Molina and Mr. James MacKirdy, sister and brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Olsen expect to take up their residence this summer on the former's farm, South Buffalo Lake. They have the best wishes of all for a happy journey o'er the matrimonial sea.

6 MONTHS' SENTENCE

Jno. Allibone who was employed by J. O. Arbuthnot, wood of Mirror, some time last year, appeared before H. J. Raynor and S. G. Duncal, J.P.'s, last Wednesday morning on a charge of stealing and cashing a cheque for $10.50. The cheque was made out by John Rawson in favor of A. J. Hunt, and according to the evidence was stolen by Allibone, who forged the endorsement and cashed the cheque in Panrucker & Holland's store in Alix. This took place about the first of the year. The accused pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months' with hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan.

Court was again held in the evening when Jno. Campbell and Bill Vernon were up on a charge of assault, laid by the proprietor of the King George restaurant. The case against Campbell was dismissed while Bill donated $5.00 and costs for poking the Oriental on the olfactory organ.

11 POUND LIMIT

The ultimate 11 pound limit of weight for the parcels post is now in effect. Thus the restriction to six pounds for each packet for transmission by parcels post during the month of February, March and April, has been removed. The order that has come forth from the post office department also eliminates the additional fee of five cents to be prepaid by postage stamps on each parcel mailed for local delivery in places where the letter carrier system is in operation. However, the insurance of packets does not become operative until May 1, as at first set forth and in the meantime packets of the parcels post may merely be registered.

Information gained at the local post office was to the effect that an order had been received from the post office department setting forth changes in the parcels post regulations as indicated above.

Although the increase in the use of the parcel post has been continuous and steady since its inauguration February 10, last, the rush on the mails was not by any means as great as might have been expected. Since the full weight is being accepted, it is expected by the post office officials that the new department in the mail service will soon large and that many manufacturers and shippers, as well as the public in general will take advantage of the cheap rates afforded by the parcels post in preference to those of the express companies.

FOR DAIRYING

Four dairy competitions, with thorough-bred livestock and silverplate as prizes, will take place in Alberta, beginning April 1st, and continuing January 31st and March 31st, 1915, under the supervision of S. G.

Carlyle, instructor in the management of dairy herds under the Dominion grant in the provincial department of agriculture. Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, announced in his office at the parliament buildings that three of the tests, which are designed to encourage the dairy industry will be carried on in connection with the agricultural schools at Vermilion, Olds and Claresholm. The tests are open to grade cows only, the 10 prizes in each contest being pure-bred cows, yearlings, calves, pigs, and pairs of poultry. The fourth competition is open to pure-bred herds throughout the province. Special prizes being awarded to girls standing highest in the contests. The prizes of silver plate are valued at $350.

An eclipse of the moon, almost total, was witnessed by a number of Mirrorites Wednesday night of last week. The eclipse was visible from most points in Europe, North and South America, and Africa.

FOR BETTER HEALTH

Declaring that 10,000 persons in Alberta alone suffer annually from tuberculosis, he has announced that the church has in the past largely disregarded the teaching of hygiene and that poverty and economic ills are fruitful causes of disease and crime. Dr. Macwood avowed great enthusiasm for better health conditions. Thursday night of last week, when he addressed the provincial convention of local improvement districts and rural municipalities at Calgary on the subject of "The Conservation of Public Health."

He asserted that communicable diseases, having their root in these causes, were responsible for 60,000 deaths annually in Canada and for over 5,000 annually in Alberta, and urged that every right-minded citizen at once take part in a general crusade for the enforcement of health laws.

Dusting by Compressed Air
Compressed air has succeeded in replacing the more dangerous rock drills on many of the large exploring jobs in the city. The men who dust the coal in the mines, the miners and the men who work the trams have discovered a new way for the construction after the day's work is done.

The powerful tools produce a large amount of dust which is carried all over the vicinity in which the drilling is being done. The men's clothes become covered with dust and the men who pulverized rock, which is extremely difficult to remove by ordinary methods.

The problem of removing this fine rock dust, the last mill, until one of the men who worked at the end of the line which carries the compressed air to the drill and dusting the powerful air current on his dust covered clothes.

commend Dr. William's Pink Pill for

CANADA FIFTY YEARS HENCE
A New Organization That Is Now Working for the Common Welfare of the People of Canada

What will Canada be like fifty years hence? Well, that depends upon what we do within the next five years.

Did you ever think of travel?
Fifty years ago, yes, yes,
even twenty-five years ago, we were not traveling. Then our grandfathers went back into the old days again.

They built a home and raised a big family
and lived in love and charity with each other.

But now all is changed. Thousands are moving from the country into the city. It is almost a thing of the past. No one knows his next door neighbor.

The people are scattered, appearing in the rush and conflict of industrial life. Even religion, our one common bond, has been broken.

There was a wholesome home life,
spirit of neighborliness and deep religious feeling.

But now all is changed. Thousands
are moving from the country into the

knows his next door neighbor.

ALBERTA A GREAT LIVE STOCK CENTRE

The province of Alberta can claim to be the greatest livestock centre in Canada west of the Great Lakes. The value of shipments of cattle through the Winnipeg yards for the year 1913 was $6,863,340, while the figures at Calgary show a total of $9,405,000 for cattle and $5,000,000 for hogs and sheep
an encouraging fact.

The farming of Alberta has at last begun to realize the value
of going in for mixed farming, and is devoting considerable attention to the raising of stock.
The fall of 1912 taught the agriculturist of Alberta a lesson, when the crop was a very great loss on account of its consisting of low grade grain
which could not be marketed;
and the farmer having no stock
to feed, much of his grain was actually left rotting in the fields
throughout the province.

A feature in the cattle trade of the province which is very satisfactory is the rapid increase in shipments to British Columbia.
This province is buying choice steers which hitherto were shipped to Europe. The year 1910 was Alberta's record, when 55,000 head were shipped to Europe. Last year no cattle were exported to Europe, but 51,150 head were shipped to the mountain province. The value of these animals totalled over four million dollars. This money was not only kept in the Dominion, but middle men and retailers obtained their profits which would have been otherwise lost to Canadians.
Alberta supplied Saskatchewan
to the extent of 3,300 head, valued at approximately the large sum of $207,300.

The great development of the home market is proving a tremendous benefit to the Dominion. The home market is as yet the best. There is more profit to the shipper in sending his cattle to Vancouver than in standing the necessary shrinkage
to the long haul to the Atlantic seaboard. The gross value of live stock shipped in Alberta during 1913 totals fourteen and one-half million dollars. This is for cattle, sheep and hogs, and does not include horses.

The sheep raising industry of southern Alberta shows a steady increase, and will soon become a very important industry. There is an increase of hog shipments over the figures 1912 of one hundred and eighty thousand. The shipments of hogs in 1913 were 275,000 and for 1912 95,000.

The following is a brief summary of output for 1913 : Shipsped to British Columbia, 51,- 150 ; shipped to United States,
5,030 ; shipped East, 3,300 ; total shipments from province
through Calgary, 60,400.

Value of shipments : British Columbia, 51,140 head at $81, $4,143,150 ; United States, 5,590
head at $91, $541,450 ; East, 3,- 300 head at $81, $267,300 ; total value shipped out of province, $4,551,900.

Value of hogs and sheep :
275,000 hogs at $15 per head,
$4,125,000 ; 175,000 sheep at $8
per head, $75,000 ; total $5,- 000,000.

The foregoing does not take into account local consumption,
which in the case of cattle distributed from Calgary alone is estimated as being not far short of the exports from the province.

Even when increasing production tends to outstrip Canadian requirements, the recent opening of the United States market
ensures continued effective demand.

Evidence of the fact that the gap between supply and demand
has become constantly widening is shown in the figures taken from the United States census 1901 and 1911, showing an increase in population of 21
per cent. and a decrease in meat producing animals from 7
per cent. to 15 per cent.

1901 1911
Population 75,994,575 91,972,266

Cattle (other than milk cows) 45,500,000 39,679,990

Hogs ... 62,376,105 58,000,000

Sheep ... 61,505,811 51,800,000

The cattle purchased by Swift & Co. throughout the United States during 1913 are reported to have been secured at a cost of 12 per cent. more than the purchases in 1912.

The live stock industry in Alberta is certainly not on the decline, notwithstanding the fact that the people have been forced to give up the farms to give place to the towns. The large influx of people and the growth and development of cities and towns have created a local demand for dry goods which the existing resources of Alberta are not able to supply.

The reproducing point of the new Edison Cylinder Phonograph is a diamond

It was appropriate that when Mr. Edison was seeking the utmost perfection in sound reproduction he should find that this power lay in the diamond. He discovered it in the course of more than 2,500 experiments, always looking toward rarer sweetness, mellower, stronger tone.

He has equipped every new Edison Phonograph with a diamond-point reproducer.

When this marvelously improved tip rests upon the surface of the unbreakable Blue Amberol Record, the heavier pressure can produce but one result—perfect, sweet, clear music, without any jar or vibration, and with rarer sweetness. Hear a Blue Amberol

Amoret's Trouousseau

Where She Got the Money to Pay For It.

By MARTHA CORB SANFORD.

Amoret was very excited. It was her first long journey alone, and vast and entrancing as her dreams were of the delights of California she knew she had made even her dreams transmuted.

She took off her stylish little hat and tucked it in the "portmanteau" just as she did at home. Then, after a few words at her head and another at her feet, she settled back with a sense of relief and security in the sun, with a last wriggle of his bright eyeless eyes, at length unburdened bethat distant train.

Amoret had her thoughts back to the people about her. An uninterested and prosaic collection was her unspoken verdict save for a very decided opinion that she was being too silly to be even amusing.

What was there, Amoret mused, about a homely girl that the world could possibly make such laughable sentimental idiots?

"I'll call to dinner" announced the dining room porter, swinging pomposly through the train.

Amoret opened her purse, in which she always carried her miniature watch. She glanced at the time and then, feminine fashion, began to investigate the varied contents of her pocket-book. And there it was, a small growing very white, lame card and closed her eyes.

The nervous and dignified young man across the aisle had been watching her. He guessed what he had planned.

How could he help her? Could he ask her to go into dinner with him? Of course not. Shod shrive before she'd accept. Well, he might as well do his best to make up for the situation while he did so.

As he rose and walked ahead into the dining car Amoret opened her eyes and saw him hurrying to jump up and follow him. He was the only person in the car that she liked the looks of.

It was a thought that she needn't tip the tea. But that must be some other way out of this awful predicament. She closed her eyes again.

"I'm a Manchester, the lawyer?"

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"Very well, though I've never met his family."

"That makes it all right for me to ask a favor of you, don't it?"

"Well, I suppose so. You're a friend here. May I know what you want?"

"I want to get a place to live in, and I have a little which can be had so long saving for this trip and while we're away we may stay over nightingale to pay for it."

When Richard Mason returned from the dining car he found Amoret alone, the rest of the passengers having alighted at the station. Now was his chance.

He had thought up his brilliant lead, to be sure, but the proper words were not in his mind. His sufficient nerve to speak. He cleared his throat twice, but the silence remained otherwise unchanged.

The train stopped. Richard prepared to be reading his paper, but the print might have been Egyptian hieroglyphics. Suddenly he cringed as the door opened and "unlocked" Amoret.

"Great heavens!" he exclaimed, and, jumping up, caught her in his arms, just as she was about fainting. He rang the porter's bell furiously.

"Get some water, quick," he commanded. "We'll need it for the maid duty, too."

"Yash, no, sah," responded the porter and vanished with something akin to the speed and grace of a hurt cat.

Meanwhile Richard had the girl get ready down on the seat and got a flask of medicine. The porter returned with the water and with the excuse had brought up the rear Amoret had begun to show signs of coming.

"Here, Sarah," ordered Richard (why Sarah he couldn't have told for the life of him, "you take care of her while I get the maid duty. So we ought to have gone in to dinner sooner, but—she didn't."

Indeed, she didn't think the question where it came from. She allowed Sarah to coax her into a seat a little chicken and afraid to suppose that she would be able to get away.

"I'll make it right with you in the morning," Amoret assured her. "You won't forget, will you?"

"Sarah, you know what I mean, sweetheart," she said.

Amoret didn't answer. Instead she turned her head away. Richard watched her curiously, waiting an instant.

Suddenly she faced him, looking at him in a half-frightened, half-suspicions way through her blotted eyes. "I did," she said, after a brief pause.

"I'll make it right with you in the morning," Amoret assured her. "You won't forget, will you?"

"Sarah, you know what I mean, sweetheart," she said.

Amoret didn't answer. Instead she turned her head away.

In the meantime the porter's "first call" to "breakfast" rang cheerfully until Amoret heard and tried to guess as she went on with her spiritless talk.

Richard heard and realized that he must take the bill by the horns in their words, but must hence himself to speak. "Sarah, you lady! In distress did offer her assistance."

In the course of half an hour Am-ret appeared. She glanced up and down the car, evidently looking for room one. Suddenly seeing Richard, she straight toward him.

"I am Miss Blauchard," she said without a qualm of courtesy, for this was the name of her chosen career.

"I am going to take advantage of your kindness to me last night and ask another favor."

"I am pleased to be of the slightest service," responded Rich rd, with Utmost solemnity.

"I am—Amoret." Amoret stopped short in confusion. She had thought it would be so easy!

"Tell me all about it!" Richard insisted.

"I am—Amoret." She had thought it would be so easy!

"Tell me all about it!" Amoret inquired in astonishment.

"Tell me all about it!" he said again.

GENERAL NEWS

Canada is to be represented at the Panama Pacific exhibition, to be held in San Francisco, California, in 1915, and work has already commenced on a building 340 feet long, 240 feet wide and 50 feet high, to cost $300,000. The contents will be made up to $300,000 more.

Archbishop Langevin of the Roman Catholic church, Winnipeg, Man., has issued instructions forbidding his clergy from attending theatres and moving picture shows and urging them to warn their people from attending such places. The archbishop also forbids the holding of dances for the aid of any church organizations, and issues a general warning against the new dances.

Speaking of things that have passed away, what's become of the coppered shoes? Not many years ago a boy wouldn't think of wearing a pair of shoes without those shiny ornaments. There was no fear then in hitting a tin can a good sound kick. Possibly they are not made any more because they lasted too long.

When the Hudson Bay railway is finished Winnipeg will be 630 miles nearer Liverpool by rail and steamer than by way of Montreal. Even St. Paul will save 630 miles by shipping via Hudson Bay instead of by way of New York. Pembina will be approximately just the same distance from Liverpool as Chicago. Looking at the map these figures seem impossible, but the map is flat—and the earth is not. It is just the same distance round a hill as over the top of it—Pembina, N. D. Express.

If you desire to reform social evil or to dislodge your fellowmen from their present ways, the surest way to success is to resort to denunciation and abuse. Kindness, conciliation, the influence of good example—these are the true and effective means and appliances of reform.

The farming business is now coming to a point where it is generally recognized as the most prosperous business going, offering the best future and the brightest prospects. That being so there will be no trouble about keeping the boy on the farm for he will keen to see that it is the best place to make money, gain the respect of his fellowmen and obtain that standing amongst men which is the ambition of every right-minded boy.

THE TIGHT-SKIRT CRISIS

You've a very narrow skirt, Little Girl. Are you sure it doesn't hurt, Little Girl?

That's a mincing little stride Where the street is wild and wide;

Are you sure there's room inside, Little Girl?

What will happen if you slip, Little Girl?

Aren't you fearful it will rip, Little Girl?

You had better take a sack, So if anything should crack, It would serve you coming back,

Little Girl.

Does your mamma know you're out, Little Girl?

We're afraid to go about,

Little Girl?

If we meet you in the sun, With your skirt so thiny spin,

Why, we might all have to run,

Little Girl.

Let the bottom out a bit,

Little Girl.

It is much too tight to fit,

Little Girl.

As the matter sadly stands, You'll be walking on your hands, And in that event—my lands!

Little Girl.

Wainwright has 1,477, also 60 moose deer, 45 elk and four antelopes. Two hundred and forty-three buffalo calves were born in the Wainwright reserve during 1913. He reports also that buffalo are thriving and rapidly increasing in number. Large increases, he added, are noticeable in game birds, due principally to the protection given by the national park authorities and the co-operation of sportsmen.

mail order house, was accosted by a local merchant: "Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and build up this locality."
